SUMMARY

I am a 2nd year computer science student on a special integrating studies & full-time job program.

I used to combine my degree with a full-time job in the Prime Minister's office until this October.

I finished employment for the purpose of dedicate more time to school, study harder and for searching a relevant student position that can advance me to a high-tech career.

I am looking for a student position in a company that will allow me to study and develop as a programmer in hope of becoming a permanent employee upon graduation.

I have experience and skills in teamwork as well as military and employment experience as a team leader.

Over the years i haven't acquired employment experience in the programming field, but i have acquired abilities and qualities of work ethic, adaptation to a changing work environment; cool, efficient and effective functioning under pressure, creative thinking outside the box in a problem-solving approach as well as contending and successfully overcoming crises.

I believe these abilities combined with high motivation to work hard and learn new technologies and practical actions in the industry will enable me to contribute and give value-added to achieving my team goals.
